Your Economy Changed

- You'll make more money, by producing what is termed a 'true profit'.
- You'll know when to change your carrying capacity.
- Reduce your crop growing costs - stop doing what everyone normally does - which is 'fighting with nature'.

WHAT THE PROGRAM WILL COVER

- * Detailed understanding of the four ecosystem processes that determine the profitability of your property
- * Using the tools that manipulate them - to your advantage
- * Knowing the special relationship between land, animals and plants
- * Full training in all aspects of holistic grazing planning
- * Learning how to authentically 'pay yourself first'

SINCE DOING THE TRAINING, CHANGE IS SEEN AS OPPORTUNITY

All of a sudden we look at things and no longer say 'we can't afford to do that', but 'how can we afford to do that'. It stops the closed mind mentality. The course has made us realise we can do it, and now everywhere we look we see opportunities.

Ben, NZ

WE NOW CONTROL OUR DESTINY

I have come from a different thinking background; this enables me to view 'life in the bush' in other ways. That is why Holistic Management, after considerable research, felt right.

Gill, NSW

This 3-day program focuses on

THE FOUR ECOSYSTEM PROCESSES

HOLISTIC DECISION-MAKING

HOLISTIC GRAZING PLANNING

HOLISTIC FINANCIAL PLANNING

The four ecosystem processes 'are your land':

- We will look in detail at the effectiveness of your:
  - Water cycle. When rainfall unnecessarily runs off (or evaporates) from your land - then you make less money. When it stays there, you make more!
  - Mineral cycle. Minerals should cycle at least once per year to be effective. When the cycle on your land is effective the need for external inputs substantially drops.
  - Biological succession. You can manipulate the species mix on your land. You do this through the decisions you make about the tools you use.
  - Solar energy flow. The business of agriculture is the capturing, packaging and marketing of sunlight for a profit. The bigger and better the leaf area and quality is, the more money you can make, and the sooner your land becomes healthier.

Holistic decision-making:

- We will look in detail at conventional decision-making and where the gaps are
- You will fill in those gaps using the holistic decision-making framework. This framework ensures that everything you do is simultaneously:
  - Financially sound
  - Ecologically sound
  - Socially sound
- Holistic decision-making is totally centred around what you want. After all, it is your life you are most concerned about.

Holistic grazing planning:

- Holistic grazing planning gives structure to your grazing.
- Every year you will minimise the need for supplementary feeding. Besides the fodder, there are several hidden costs of supplementation that are even bigger risks to your business. You should become aware of what they are.
- Plan for droughts. This approach immediately stops you making everyone else rich at your expense, whenever droughts occur.
- Be prepared for even bigger changes: Should we ever move to practical payments for soil carbon, you can be certain of one thing:
  - You will need to be holistically planning your grazing operation.
- Overcome salinity.
- Deliberately create conditions that are suitable for perennials to establish and thrive.
- Be wary of look-alikes to this planning. Others like to cherry-pick the easy bits, but they will leave you to find the important bits the hard way.

Holistic financial planning:

- Learn how to plan your profit first:
  - No more will you allow yourself to pay everyone else, and have just a dribble coming your way.
- Discover new thinking about why 'capital expenditures' such as new fencing and water points, or new cropping tools, should pay for themselves in the year of purchase.
- Tie your financial plan to your 'quality of life'. You are farming because you want to. Make sure it is both fun and profitable.
